JAPANESE MAY SEND TROOPS INTO CHINA; MUST PAY DAMAGES

United States Will Present Bill For Destruction

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Four Japanese destroyers and 200 marines have been ordered ready to proceed to China at a moment's notice, it was reported in Tokyo dispatches to the evening newspapers today.

It is regarded probable, the messages said, Japan will join with the other powers in asking China to cease its civil war and unite to crush communism.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The United States will present the Chinese Nationalist government a bill for repayment of all damage to American property in China during the present communistic uprising, it was learned today. American property in the city of Changsha, which was conquered by the communists, has an estimated value of about $2,500,000.

Damage was reported inflicted on some of the properties of the Standard Oil Company, and many private homes in Changsha were systematically looted and burned. At the beginning of the warfare, when it was found necessary to evacuate Americans from Changsha, the United States informed the Nationalist government it "reserved all rights" in China.

So far, but one American, Allen Cameron, of Lawrence, Kansas, an Italian priest who was captured and two German mining engineers are believed to be in Changsha.

Outside the small Chinese rivers this country has strung a semi-circle of American warships which are considered adequate for present necessities. The navy department reported thirty-five warships, including gunboats, destroyers, mine layers and cruisers are now in Chinese waters, with an additional five vessels, including the aircraft tender Heron, at Manila and ready for call.

Only the small gunboats are of any service in China's interior, because of the seasonal shallow rivers.

Public utilities, including the city water and electric light supply, nevertheless, were reported still in working order.

ENDURANCE FLYERS CONTINUE ALOFT

LAMBERT-ST. LOUIS FIELD, Aug. 1.—A damaged magneto having been repaired, the "Greater St. Louis" which is trying to beat the world endurance mark which was set by the "City of Chicago," zoomed into its twelfth day and 25th hour in the air at 7:11 a. m. this morning.

The ship is being flown by Dale "Red" Jackson and Forrest O. Brine, former holders of the world endurance record.

Yesterday, Jackson crawled out in the narrow catwalk and installed new breaker points in the magneto.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Aug. 1.—The Red Monoplane which is attempting to break the world's refueling endurance record had gone half way today at 9:04 a. m. toward breaking the Hunter brothers' record which was made at Chicago July 4.

CHARLES C. BALTON REMOVED BY DEATH

CLEVELAND, Aug. 1.—Business and civic circles here today mourned the death of Charles C. Bolton, 75, prominent Cleveland capitalist and philanthropist, who died at his home last night following a lingering illness of more than a year.

The financier had been suffering from heart disease for several months. His death, it was believed, was hastened by the shock of the sudden death of his wife last year.

Until his retirement in 1904, Mr. Bolton was identified with the M. A. Hanna Co. He was also a former director of the Bourne-Fuller Co.

NOT MISSING GIRL

Relatives of Frances St. John Smith, Smith College student who disappeared more than two years ago, are said to be convinced that a girl giving her name as "Mary Wilson," above, held in a Cincinnati hospital, is not Miss Smith. The girl is believed to resemble the Smith College student who was the object of a nation-wide search until a body taken from the Connecticut River sixteen months ago was identified as that of the missing society girl.

RACING PLANT SWEEP BY FIRE EARLY FRIDAY

Valuable Horse Dies But Seven Saved By Caretaker

FRAMINGHAM, Mass., Aug. 1.—Raceland, the $200,000 residence and stables of John R. Macomber, one of New England's wealthiest financiers, was swept by fire today.

May Morn, bay mare, ridden by Miss Dorothy Neyhart, at the last Brookline Country Club race meeting, lost her life when she left a stampede of seven other horses, and re-entered her stall.

May Morn together with Package, the Macomber favorite of twenty-five years, Peter-The-Scrib, Bashdon, Heartbreaker, Pantano, and an Arabian horse owned by N. W. Harris financier partner of Macomber, were chased from the stables by Emmet Robertson, colored watchman, the only person who was on the estate when the fire started, presumably from spontaneous combustion in the hayloft.

The seven horses, aroused by the crackling flames and sweep of smoke, dashed wildly around the stable yard, some of them re-entering the burning stables.

Robertson opened the Raceland track gate and again drove the pack from the stable. With the exception of May Morn, all the race horses went into a wild stampede on the racetrack but May Morn eluded Robertson and returned to the stable and was lost.

ACCOUNTANTS WILL TESTIFY AT TRIAL

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 1.—The long-anticipated testimony of Ernst and Ernst, anti-merger accountants, relating to the audit of books of Bethlehem Steel Corporation, was expected to be presented in common pleas court here today in the trial of the injunction suit against the merger of Bethlehem with Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company.

The auditors were expected to testify that their examination of the Bethlehem books show that the proposed merger terms between Sheet and Tube and Bethlehem were unfair to stockholders of the Youngstown concern.

Today's court session rounds out the fifth week of the spectacular merger battle before Judge David G. Jenkins. The forces opposing the merger have carried the offensive during all this time, and indications today were that they are still far from finished with their side of the case.

R-100 SETS NEW RECORD

British Dirigible Makes Fastest East To West
Crossing Of Atlantic

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, MONTEAL, Aug. 1.—In spite of the fact she was delayed many hours by storms and damage to her tail fin, the British dirigible R-100 established a new record for east to west crossing of the Atlantic to North America. Due to the route taken, however, the distance was considerably shorter than most previous dirigible flights from Europe to America.

The R-100 covered 3,364 miles from Cardington, Eng., to this port in seventy-eight hours and fifty-two minutes.

The previous low record for east-to-west dirigible spanning the ocean was set by the United States Navy dirigible Los Angeles formerly the ZR-3, in her initial

GIRL ENTERTAINER ARRESTED IN DEATH OF GERALD BUCKLEY

Sweetheart Of Beer
Baron Suspect In Detroit Case

DETROIT, Aug. 1.—An attractive 28-year-old radio entertainer, Miss Margaret Mansell, is under arrest today in connection with the murder of Gerald E. Buckley, popular radio announcer, who was "put on the spot" July 23 as he sat in the lobby of the LaSalle Hotel here.

Police say she is the sweetheart of Peter Licavoli, East Side beer baron, who has been sought by police since the day of the sensational murder.

When detectives raided the woman's apartment, they said they discovered numerous newspaper clippings of recent gang murders and also a special code for telephoning many known gangsters.

Angelo Livechi, St. Louis and Detroit gangster, who was arrested as the "finger man" in the slaying, will be given a hearing one week from today. Police now say that he pointed Buckley out to the three gunmen who pumped eleven bullets into the body of the radio announcer.

FOLLOW NEW CLEW IN GIBBS MURDER

CLYDE, O., Aug. 1.—A new clue, revealed by a Fremont woman whose name has been withheld, was being followed by authorities today in the investigation of the death of Russell C. Gibbs, 22, automobile dealer, whose charred body was found in his burning automobile last Sunday night.

The woman, authorities said, has ventured information that she and her husband, returning from Fremont from Sandusky, saw a parked car on the Clyde-Castalia Road at midnight Sunday near where Gibbs' body was taken from his automobile just a few hours later.

The make and model of the car is known to authorities, it was said. The owner of the "mystery" automobile is being sought.

PRISONER ESCAPES FROM MARION JAIL

MARION, O., Aug. 1.—Police today were searching for Charles Bixler, alias Charles Lewis, who is wanted by federal authorities for the theft of an automobile from the Interstate Transportation Company who escaped from the county jail here last night. Bixler gained his freedom by sawing a bar from a second-story window and descending to the ground with the aid of a rope which had been made from bedclothes.

Bixler was arrested here July 16 for attempted burglary and was awaiting a grand jury report which was scheduled to be released today. Officers believe that the alleged thief was assisted in his escape by his wife.

MR. TUNNEY NOW; GENE IN BUSINESS

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Not Professor Tunney or Arthur Tunney but just plain Mr. J. J. Tunney, business man.

That was the classification today of Gene Tunney, the retired undefeated heavyweight boxing champion. It was announced the former fighter has become associated with the Southern Wheel Co., makers of wheels for railway coaches.

LIBERTY BONDS

flight from Friedrichshafen, Germany, to Lakehurst, N. J., in 1924 when 5,060 miles were covered in eighty-one hours, seventeen minutes.

The best time made by the globe trotting veteran Graf Zeppelin in a Europe-America crossing was ninety-five hours, twenty-two minutes in August, 1929, from Friedrichshafen to Lakehurst at the start of her world flight. The Graf covered 5,003 miles on this crossing, taking the longer, southerly route instead of the Great Circle course chosen by R-100.

The Graf, however, made the easier west-to-east crossing in as little as fifty-four hours. She crossed from Seville, Spain, to Pernambuco, Brazil this year in eighty-one hours.

BANKER JAILED

J. E. Casey, former president of the Citizens National Bank of Galion, O., has been held for the federal grand jury on a charge of misapplying bank funds, resulting in a shortage of $200,000. Casey has charged that three directors of the bank were also involved.

REPORT TWO SHOT IN HOLDUP ATTEMPT

CLEVELAND, Aug. 1.—Road entrances to Cleveland were being watched today for two wounded men, one of them a Cleveland, who were reported by Sheriff Richard Shad of Richland County to be fleeing in this direction following a gun battle at a barbecue near Mansfield last night.

Sheriff Shad notified local authorities that the pair and two others, who were later captured, attempted to hold up the Green Lantern Barbecue. They were shot while fleeing by Y. E. Howell, proprietor of the place.

The captured pair said their accomplices, one of whom was believed to be from Scranton, Pa., were wounded. They fled to Cleveland, they said.

GERMAN AVIATORS BRAVING ATLANTIC

KIRK WALL, Orkney Islands, Aug. 1.—Wolf Hirth and Oscar Weller, dare devil German aviators braving the Atlantic in their tiny sports plane in a stopover flight from Berlin to Chicago, hopped off for Iceland today.

They left here aided by favorable weather, soaring off at 9:30 a. m. (4:40 a. m. Eastern daylight time), hopeful of reaching Reykjavik sometime late today. The distance of this water hop is approximately 800 miles.

The air ministry informed them that an hourly wind velocity of from ten to fifteen miles might be expected, with visibility generally good, although some mist prevails.

Inclement weather delayed their hop from here for several days.

FOUND DEAD IN AUTO

CHILLICOTHE, O., Aug. 1.—Funeral arrangements were being made today for Rodney Harris, 21. His body was found in his wrecked auto at the bottom of a twenty-foot embankment along Paint Creek, about a mile and a half from Balmbridge, Thursday night. Young Harris had been missing from his home near Greenfield since Wednesday night.

PURCHASING POWER OF FARMER'S MONEY HITS NEW LOW LEVEL

Slump In Crop Prices
Blamed As Dollar
Value Shrinks

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The farmer's dollar has sunk to a new low level with its purchasing power now but 75 per cent of pre-war days from 1909 to 1914, the department of agriculture reported today in an analysis of the farm situation.

Despite the fact that general commodity prices have eased off in the last several months, the farmer has not gained purchasing power. Instead, he has lost, say experts of the bureau of agricultural economics.

The situation arises because the sale prices of farm products have slumped to new low levels in July. The two great "money crops" of the nation—wheat and cotton—fell to price levels below the pre-war period for the first time.

Agricultural experts do not attempt to explain the phenomenon of falling farm prices in the face of the worst drought in fifty years or more in a large part of the producing section.

There is indication, however, of farm products moving again to a high price level. With the drought becoming more serious each day, corn prices have become firmer, as have prices of some other products.

Because of the uncertain trend of price levels, agricultural experts say they cannot estimate the momentary loss of the drought.

With the value of last year's farm crops, December 1 prices, fixed at eight and a half billion dollars, it is declared the cost of the drought may reach $2,000,000,000 or actually mean no loss at all to the farmers as a whole because of possible increases in prices.

The decrease in the purchasing power of the farmer has been marked during the present summer. It fell to $3.7 per cent of pre-war during May, $2.7 per cent during June and 7.4 per cent in July. Grain prices as a whole fell to eight per cent under pre-war level, while cotton and cotton seed was one per cent under pre-war and unclassified crops fell to three-fourths 1914 prices. Farm products as a whole bring 11 per cent more than from 1909 to 1914, but the farmer pays 45 per cent more for his purchases.

Farm wages continue relatively high, being 127 per cent above pre-war. They have shown little change during the present summer.

A drop in the retail price of food now is becoming noticeable, say the experts. Their figures show retail food prices eleven points under July a year ago, while wholesale prices are thirteen points less.

FIVE INJURED WHEN CAR HITS FREIGHT

SANDUSKY, O., Aug. 1.—Five of sixteen persons who were aboard the Lake Shore Electric Limited that crashed into the rear end of a Lake Shore electric freight train near here last night, were recovering from injuries in Good Samaritan Hospital today.

The injured are: Gustav Hilderbrand, motorman, of Sandusky; George Fosco of Sandusky; Mrs. George Henderson of Cleveland; William Y. Allen of Detroit, and Miss Helen Ziegler of Bellevue.

Hilderbrand was the most seriously injured. When he saw the freight approach, he jammed on the breaks of his train and jumped.

Other passengers on the trains were only shaken up by the crash. Neither of the cars left the track.

TO SPEND $600,000 FOR NEW BUILDINGS

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 1.—Work on the new building program at Ohio State University here, which will begin early this fall and which will include the erection of a new physical education building, will involve an expenditure by the state of approximately $600,000, it was revealed today.

Besides the new natatorium, a new teacher's training building will be constructed at an estimated cost of $450,000 which was appropriated for the first unit at the last session of the legislature.

Many of the older buildings of the University campus will be rebuilt or repaired and units will be added.

WILL DISCUSS RELIEF FOR OHIO FARMERS

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 1.—Plans for relieving the situation which is existing among Ohio farmers will be considered at a conference here this afternoon of federal and state agricultural experts and leaders in the Buckeye state's banking and business circles.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. WALTER JOHNSON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Mrs. Walter Johnson, wife of the manager of the Washington baseball club, died today at Georgetown University Hospital. Her husband was at the bedside, having refused to accompany his team to New York last night.

Mrs. Johnson entered the hospital Wednesday midnight following her collapse from heat exhaustion.

She returned Monday from a motor trip to Coffeyville, Kans., where she visited relatives of her husband. Physicians believe the intense heat and strain from her long tour caused her system to weaken.

GIRL THROWN FROM AUTO HURT FATALLY

BALTIMORE, Aug. 1.—Thrown from a moving automobile today, police were told, an unidentified girl, about twenty-five years old, was found lying in Philadelphia Road, near Essex, about ten miles from Baltimore, and died a short while later from her injuries.

John Davis, who lives by the roadside, said he saw two men in a swiftly moving automobile "throw something out." He investigated and saw it was a girl.

SARNIA, Ont., Aug. 1.—A "mercy murder" had occurred here today.

Miss Mary S. Richardson, 29, confessed to police, they say, that she poisoned her 73-year-old mother, Mrs. Catherine Richardson.

"I did no harm," the daughter insisted, "mother is better off dead."

SHIP MOORED AFTER BATTLING STORM ON FINAL LAP OF TRIP

Fin Fabric Damaged;
Crossing Hailed As Great Success

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Montreal, Que., Aug. 1.—Another brilliant page was written in dirigible history today when the R-100, Great Britain's challenge to Germany's pre-eminence in lighter-than-air navigation successfully completed a transatlantic flight from Cardington, England, to the St. Hubert air station near Montreal.

The R-100 was sighted from the airport here at 2:27 o'clock this morning, Eastern Daylight Time, seventy-five hours and forty-two minutes after she left Cardington. Because it was dark at the time, the world's biggest dirigible did not moor to the powerful million dollar mooring tower here until 5:37 a. m., seventy-eight hours and fifty-two minutes after she departed from Cardington. Until the very last lap of her journey she was making splendid time. Then she encountered damage to the fabric of her stabilizing fin, and stormy weather conditions—a combination of events that forced her to greatly reduce her speed.

Damage to the fin's fabric was negligible, officers of the ship said upon her arrival. Squadron Leader R. S. Booth, commander of the R-100 on the trip, said the big dirigible "came through in fine condition." He characterized the voyage as a "good test flight" and he and other officers interviewed indicated that in their opinion the flight was a success in every respect.

The R-100 is now attached to the mooring mast of St. Hubert's airport. She stands out horizontally from the top of the mooring mast, 200 feet above the ground—a big, proud looking ship, the sun's rays glinting off her dull gray sides.

The R-100 carried forty-four persons on the 3,400 mile flight. There were five officers, thirty-two members of the crew and seven observers and officials. Her commander, Squadron Leader Booth, although only thirty-five years old, has had fifteen years' experience in aviation.

After the giant airship had been safely moored, the chief officers aboard granted a joint interview to the press. Those present were Commander Booth; Wing Commander P. M. Colmore, director of airship development; Sir Dennistoun Burney, director of aircraft development and designer of the R-100; Major G. H. Scott, assistant director of aircraft development; and Squadron Leader E. L. Johnston, navigating officer.

Wing Commander Colmore said the damage to the fin was not serious. He said once the fabric had been affected. The temporary repairs which were made while the dirigible was in flight will be supplemented by further repairs here. He remarked that the damage to the fin was somewhat similar to that which befell the Graf Zeppelin on one of its westward flights across the Atlantic to Lakehurst, N. J.

Sir Dennistoun Burney said that were it not for the fact that had weather was encountered in the final lap they would have reached St. Hubert's airport at 6 o'clock last night. He declared they made splendid time over the ocean.

Asked concerning the commercial possibilities of such a flight, Sir Dennistoun said:

"It will require an airship double the size of the R-100 with an average speed of eighty-five miles per hour before we can realize the full commercial possibilities of lighter-than-air craft."

Wing Commander Colmore related reports that engine trouble had been experienced during the voyage. He said there were no worries about the six Rolls Royce engines at any time during the trip.

"From England to the Canadian shore it was the most comfortable crossing I have ever had," he said. "We did not run into a single bump on the way over. The bumps started registering at Father Point, Quebec. It was in this region that the fin fabric became damaged."

It was estimated by Squadron Commander Booth that the voyage from Cardington to Montreal, following the Great North Circle route, was 3,364 miles. This included, he said, the cruising about last night over the airport waiting for dawn to provide light for the mooring operations. The average height maintained throughout the flight was 1,500 feet and the total time in the air was seventy-eight hours and fifty-two minutes.

There were only nine hours of favorable winds during which time the ship made more than seventy miles per hour. The average speed, however, was forty-five miles per hour. Of a total of thirty tons of fuel, five tons remained when the R-100 came to rest at St. Hubert.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—A jubilant Britain today applauded the feat of the British dirigible R-100. News of its safe arrival at Montreal was received with mixed relief and throughout the nation, which followed the airship's progress last night with apprehension.

FAIR EXHIBIT WILL SHOW PREVENTION OF LIVESTOCK LOSS

Ohio's livestock industry has lost one million dollars in the process of shipping stock from farm to market during the past five years. To help Greene County livestock producers learn how to cut down their share of that loss, County Agent E. A. Drake has obtained a special exhibit from the Livestock Prevention Loss Association of Ohio for use at the Greene County Fair, August 5 to 8.

This million dollar loss, according to Drake, was caused by dead and crippled animals and flesh injuries to the meat.

The approximate loss from dead and crippled animals by species, based on Ohio shipments arriving at the stockyard marts of Cleveland, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, and Buffalo for one year are as follows: cattle $6,000, calves $3,000, sheep $16,000, and hogs $137,000. An additional loss of $73,000 resulted from meat trimmed from the carcasses by the packers, due to flesh injuries before slaughtering.

These yearly losses in nearly all instances are borne by the producer and shipper of livestock, the agency transporting the livestock, either rail or truck, and the packer.

Livestock producers who study the exhibit at the county fair will see where many of their losses occur and how producers and shippers can aid in their prevention.

This loss has been reduced 29 per cent during the past five years, and no doubt will show further reduction during the present year. This loss can be further reduced by another 50 per cent during the coming five years if the co-operation of the agencies largely responsible for the present reduction continues.

The Livestock Loss Prevention Association of Ohio includes representatives of producers, co-operatives, shippers, railroads, packers, dual shippers, railroads, packers, stockyard companies, commission companies and the Ohio State University. These interests have been working together for a number of years on ways and means of reducing losses in livestock shipping from farm to market.

EAST END NEWS

Rev. D. J. Ferguson of Columbus, will preach both morning and evening at Zion Baptist Church Sunday, August 3.

LOOT BY SYSTEM

PEIPING, Aug. 1.—Looting on a scientific and systematic scale proceeded today in Chang-sha, which is overrun by a Communist army of 8,000 troops.

The city has been mapped off into "looting wards," with a Communist coolie, bearing the title of "governor," in charge of each one.

The Communist leaders are paying $30 to anyone guiding them to the homes of foreigners or rich Chinese. Each home is then approached by a group of the Communists, and while one is assigned to intimidate the residents by force of arms, the mob loots the house from cellar to garret, ejects the owner and his family and then sets fire to it.

ROLL THEIR TIME

ROCKVILLE, Md., Aug. 1.—Three negroes, arraigned on a charge of shooting traps, lost for once their desire to throw a "natural"—a seven or an eleven—when Magistrate C. W. Woodward ordered them yesterday to "roll their sentences." Each hoped he would make the lowest number—two—but one turned out a "big ten," another a "natural seven" and the third a "big six." The roll of the dice represented the number of days the thrower must remain in county jail.

Her real name is Anita Pomares. When she joined the movies, she turned over a new leaf—and became a Page.

Was never interested in the stage but was always intrigued by the glamour of the screen. Once wrote a fan letter to Norma Talmadge, enclosing a drawing she had made of her. Is still waiting for the answer.

Interrupted her high school career in commercial art to become a "moon pitcher" star. Made her debut in two independent features and was sent to Hollywood.

Took a screen test for Paramount. Which was seen by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Who signed her for the feminine lead opposite Bill Haines in "Telling the World." Has been "telling the world" ever since.

Won silver loving cup in prize beauty contest. Has never meant anything to her but the bother of having to polish it every few months.

Reads every movie magazine printed. Always turns to "what the fans think" columns first. Her favorite actress is Dolores Costello—her favorite actor, Davy Lee.

Hates spinach, lap dogs, mustard color, wearing a dress just because it isn't worn out, and radio announcers who interrupt swell jazz bands with lame advertising announcements.

Loves the California coast at six o'clock in the evening, music to put her to sleep, long bolts, velvet, skating with the other kids on the block, brown eyes, floppy hats and non-rash-producing strawberries.

Collects pictures of "old time" favorites. Hasn't a single autographed photo of any of her contemporaries but expects to round up a whole gallery soon.

Writes letters but invariably forgets to mail them. Has saved the first fan letter she ever received from a little girl in Inglewood, Cal. Recently telephoned her, and invited her to go automobiling. To this day, the little girl is wondering whether it ACTUALLY happened.

two "drunks" in her "reel" life, the strongest intoxicant she has ever imbibed in real life is soda pop.

Mistaken For Herself

Is always being approached by strangers and told how much she resembles "Anita Page." Recently during a vacation to Yosemite, a sculptor, who had used her eyes for his statue of the "Kneeling Aphrodite," asked her if anyone had ever told her she had eyes like Anita Page. Whereupon she retorted, "I guess the reason is because I AM Anita Page!"

Was born in Flushing, L. I., Aug. 4, 1910. Has never gone out with any boy unchaperoned by either her father or mother—or both. Has not been hit, as yet, by the "divine passion," and claims she won't change her last name again for at least five years. In the meantime, all applications filed in order of their receipt.

XENIAN SENTENCED
BY COLUMBUS JUDGE
BY COUMBUS JUDGE

Found guilty of contempt, Harry E. Mouser, Xenia, Charles Rogers, Lebanon, and Carl Moore, Harveysburg, were sentenced to the Franklin County Jail by Judge Henry L. Scarlett, of the county courts in a decision at Columbus

Wednesday, under a proceeding in contempt filed by the state public utilities commission.

The three men were summoned to appear before the commission several weeks ago for examination as to whether they had been operating transportation lines without a certificate of permission from the state commission. All of the truckers refused to testify before the commission on the ground that the state law provides punishment for operating without a license and that their answers might incriminate them under this section.

The court ordered the trio remanded to the county jail until each has answered the questions which he has refused to answer. Inasmuch as the men are not in custody, it is considered probable the state commission may not insist upon their incarceration under the order in contempt if they agree to answer the questions.

THREE FINED FOR SEINING STREAMS

Pleading guilty to charges of seining filed by Frank Hard, Fayette County game protector, who caught them along Sugar Creek between the Plymouth and Wilmington Roads, Arthur Hoover and Steve Fugate, both of Xenia, and Arthur Thompson, Dayton, were each fined $50 and costs by W. W. DeWees, Justice of the peace, at Washington C. H. Wednesday. After the trio had denied having any fish staked in the stream, the arresting officer waded out into the low water and brought ashore forty-three suckers, ten rock bass, four sunfish, one pike, one carp and five small mouth black bass. Authorities are of the opinion the three men are one of several small groups who have been stripping streams of fish during the dry weather.

LET'S ALL ATTEND COUNTY FAIR SAYS BUILDING AND LOAN CHIEF

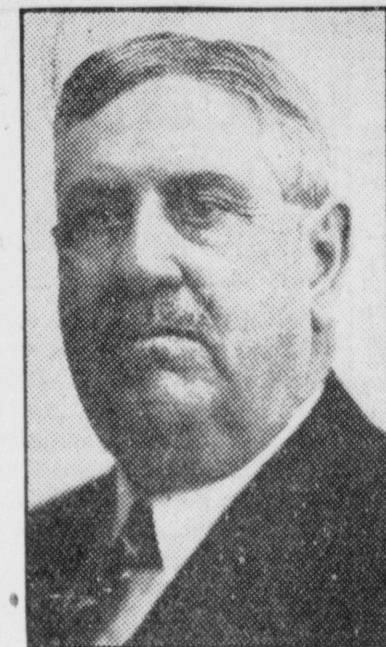

John W. Prugh, well-known Xenian, now state superintendent of building and loans, is the latest public official to endorse the Greene County Fair, which will be held next week, and to wish it success.

His good wishes are contained in the following letter:

To the People of Greene County: I met Bob Bryson on the street today and we talked about the Greene County Fair. Back as far as memory goes this is the greatest get together party that Greene County gives, and one of the big expositions of the state.

Under the present excellent management it is successful and deserves our patronage. Let's forget our worries for three days and all go out and drink red lemonade, eat popcorn and peanuts, and see the races, renew our youth as well as encourage the hard working and efficient board that is working for our pleasure without compensation. The grounds are unusually attractive this year.

Yours for my home county,
John W. Prugh.

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS PORTRAVED AS MAKING REAL PROGRESS
By LOUIS L. EMMERSON
Governor of Illinois

[Louis Lincoln Emmerson was born at Albion, Ill., Dec. 27, 1863. In 1883 he began in the mercantile business at Mt. Vernon, Ill. In 1901 he organized a bank there. He was secretary of state of Illinois from 1916 to 1928. A Republican he was elected governor of Illinois in 1928.]

Egypt, the southern section of Illinois, once led the state in agriculture, the trades, and in its contribution to the thought of the day. In the cycle of change, its industry and its agriculture lagged somewhat behind our northern counties. But the last few years have seen a rejuvenation of the spirit of accomplishment. In spite of the painful necessity of post-war deflation and the recent operation performed upon an overinflated ity and are subject to commercial development. In fluor spar production, Egypt provides almost the entire supply of the country.

Nor have the oil wells of Egypt been sufficiently advertised. Producing about 21,000 barrels of crude oil daily, southern Illinois gives the state eighth-rank as an oil state, its wells bringing in a yearly income of $12,000,000.

In short, stock-raising, dairying, poultry-raising, fruit-growing and scientific soil treatment, offer agriculturists of southern Illinois an opportunity to progress, while development of mineral resources and the extension of manufacturing enterprises promise well for the continued growth and prosperity of the entire section.

"Bulldog" Smith Leads Softball Hitters

GEYER PLAYER HITS .491, SCORES MOST RUNS IN NATIONAL

Leopard Also High; Milburn In Slump; Smith Second

By PHIL FRAME

Fred "Bulldog" Smith, classy third baseman for Geysers, has assumed the batting leadership of the National League with a mark of .491 for the season, revised averages for all league games played to date disclosed Friday.

"Bulldog" has been at bat offensively fifty-seven times, has personally scored twenty-seven runs and has rapped out twenty-eight hits of various dimensions. He has also scored more runs himself and made more hits than any other player.

Walter "Speed" Leopard, who sometimes pitches, sometimes catches and is now playing first base for Geysers, is technically the league batting leader with an average of .551 but he has only participated in about half as many games as his teammate and cannot be recognized as the actual pacesetter.

Milburn, of the Graham Paints, who was leading the batsmen when the averages were last compiled, has since experienced a slump and has dropped to sixteenth place in the standings with a mark of .405.

A total of thirty-four players in the league have averages above the .300 mark and about half this number are in the .400 class.

Because of the constant shifting of players from one team to another it is virtually an impossible task to arrive at the accurate team batting averages of each of the six competing nines. Following is the list of players who have averages of .300 or better:

Regardless of how many more men the Criterion softball team has, if any, and where the team finishes in the league, the clubbers have one distinction which no other team can claim. It is that of pulling off a triple play.

With the team loaded with Geyer players in the ninth stanza Wednesday and the out. Prof. Seall lined to Hagler, second baseman, whose throw "first doubled up" "Bulldog" Smith, bulldog's namesake. "Atlas," the young back to Hagler, retiring as well.

Herman Wells, one of the best pitchers in either league, has a high time of it trying to win games for the Criterion. He is invariably handicapped by loose fielding and poor batting support and with a stronger team behind him could win a lot of games.

It is when he gets on base, however, that the opposition is on the anxious seat. He is the most daring base-runner imaginable and seldom is thrown out when he starts printing around the bags. That counts for the fact he scores more runs every season than any other player. He is a good batter at never overlooks a chance to get a walk, anything to get on base so he can exercise his legs. He also is a fine temperamental and nothing "rattles" him any more. It is wonder he doesn't try his luck at baseball.

KRIPPENDORF TEAM DEFEATS CADDIES IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

The Krippendorf-Dittman softball team entrenched itself more deeply in first place in the American League chase by defeating the C. C. Caddies, 13 to 7 in a better game than the score would indicate Thursday night at the yard.

For six innings the contest was a nip and tuck affair with Perrine and Hornick having a tight hurling duel in the seventh the Four silver loving cups, each handsomely engraved, have been donated by Xenia merchants for the shortstop racing program at the Greene County Fair and will be presented to the owners of winners of four juvenile events.

In the younger races such as the trotting and pacing stake events for colts, the owners appreciate receiving a cup more than they do for the aged horse classes, according to Secretary J. Robert Bryson.

Loving cups have been donated by the following merchants: The Lang Chevrolet Co. to the winner of the two-year-old pace; the C. A. Weaver Co. to the winner of the three-year-old pacing stake; Lala Faye Dining Room to the winner of the three-year-old trotting stake; L. A. Wagner, jeweler, to the winner of the two-year-old trot.

The four cups are on exhibition from time to time at the stores of the above merchants.

MERCHANTS TO USE NEW HURLER SUNDAY AGAINST WHITE SOX

Xenia Merchants, having obtained the services of a new pitcher who was identified with the Shroyer Club of Dayton last season, have been strengthened considerably in preparation for the opener of a three-game series with the Dayton White Sox, fast colored nine, Sunday afternoon at Washington Park.

Manager Jess Chambliss promised the White Sox a three-game series would be arranged providing the Dayton team could defeat the Merchants or give the local team a close game last Sunday. The White Sox did just that and the Merchants were barely able to win by a narrow margin.

This game indicated the colored boys will not be a pushover for the Merchants and may beat them Sunday unless the new local hurler, named Minner, proves to be exceptionally good.

CONVICTED HERE

Walter Smith, about 40, was convicted of a statutory offense by a Probate Court jury Thursday but sentence was deferred by Judge S. C. Wright, who presided over the trial held in the Common Pleas Court room, Lydia Vlamides, R. R. No. 4, Xenia, was the complainant. Smith had pleaded not guilty, attempting to shift blame to the woman's father.

N. Y. STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The public utility stocks had a decline of moderate proportions in the early trading on the big board today. Dullness ruled in all sections of the market, and the turnover was only 175,000 shares in the first half hour.

Prospect of a paring down of rates charged for the services of the Consolidated Gas Company was reflected in a new 3-point drop in that stock to 104 1/2. American Power and Light, Electric Power, and other active utilities dropped back 1 to 2 points, principally as the result of bearish "sniping" by the professional sharpshooters.

Trading died in the second hour to near the vanishing point. United States Steel, Can and other industrial favorites drifted slightly lower followed by most of the industrials in the copper, motor, oil and other groups.

Cotton rallied about 75 cents a bale and wheat sold fractionally higher in one of the duller markets of the season. Money markets conditions were unchanged. Call money renewals were unchanged at 2 per cent.

LATEST MODEL IN LIFE BOATS

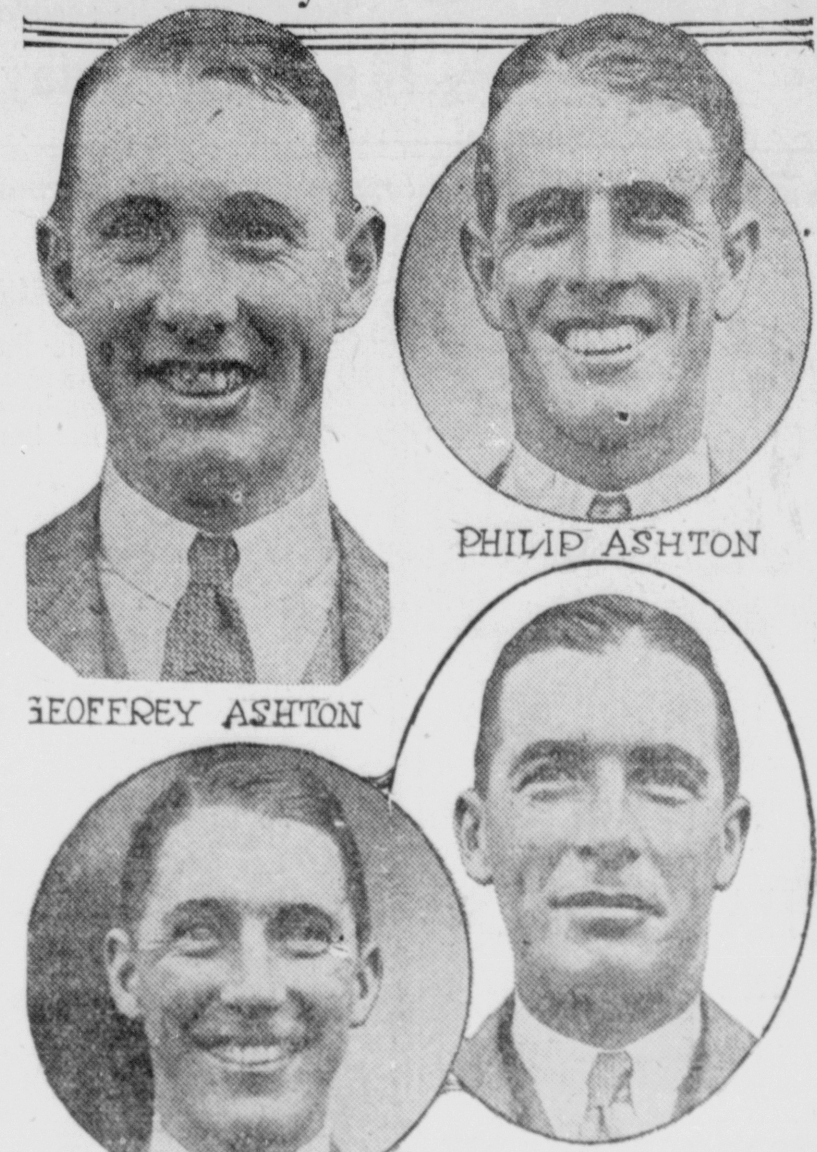

This is the first of the new type power life boats being built at Curtis Bay, Md., for coast guard stations along the Great Lakes. It is 36 feet 10 inches over all, a 10-foot beam, draws four feet of water, and is operated by a 90-horsepower engine, which drives it at a speed of 12 knots an hour. THE RIGHTS OF THE CHURCH

The church has a right to the allegiance of all, for she has a blessing for everyone.

The church has a right to the attendance of all, for she gives the principles and spirit, the intelligent influence and urge for health, hope and happiness of humanity.

The church has a right to the support of all, for in her three-fold ministry of teaching, preaching and healing, she serves all.

Why not accept the invitation and COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY?—D. Carl Yoder.

Church Forum

How get officers and teachers interested in conventions and conferences held for discussion of Sunday School work?

Interest is preceded by compelling intense attention. That attention may be produced in various ways by public announcement by personal conversation, by printed matter, by addresses from some one presenting the proposed meetings, by good reports of previous meetings, by offers of associations by those who will attend. It may be that providing transportation may assist in securing the desired attendance. It is wise to use all delegates in reporting back to the local group the helpful facts of such a convention or conference. This personal recognition will assist in getting others interested the next time.

When should a new pupil be considered an enrolled member in the church school and when should enrolled members be dropped?

Schools quite generally adopt the plan of enrolling pupils after they have declared their desire to join the school and have attended two or three successive sessions.

Proceed rather slowly in dropping a member. Better have an inactive list containing all those who have been absent for two months continuously without excuse. These inactive members need to be sought out and every effort made to have them return.

Discussion on Questions S.S. Lesson

1. How avoid judging each other?
2. Why is the home of such value in religious training?
3. What makes a godly mother?
4. How may the home life of today be improved?
5. What is religious education?
6. How carry on an effective program of religious education today?
7. Vows are of what value?

Clericus says, "It is important that children be taught in secular knowledge and cast in the best molds of our civilization, but all this would result in a rising of godless young people that would unloose all their appetites and desires and passions if they were not taught and trained in the deeper and infinitely more vital principles and practices of religion."

Lesson Prayer—"Give us a true conception of such religious training that will result in godly characters of the youth and put it into our hearts to make such training effective."

"Pilgrim's Progress in the World Today," by the Rev. H. F. B. Mackay. Morehouse Pub. Co., 1891-11 Fond du Lac Ave. Milwaukee, Wis. shows how Greatheart, Faithful, Apollyon, the saints, the sinners, and the monsters of Bunyan's great book walk in modern England, and how as in Pilgrim's Progress, they should be encountered.

MAKING GOOD
"I have been given a pretty rough deal; two other boys have been promoted ahead of me; they have not been with the concern as long as I have and do not know as much about the business. I call it rotten," said a young man employed in a big business firm.

"What do you do with your spare time?" inquired a friend to whom he made his complaint.

"Well," he said "I spend one evening with my girl each week and one night away from home with my work." He looked out through the window and continued "The remainder of the evening I run around with the boys. I am a regular fellow a man among men. This young man never found time to study or to read; he spent no time with the home folks; gave his parents no chance to impart good advice or to even know him. The two boys who were promoted spent their leisure time in self-improvement. "Having a good time" was not their policy but an ambition to make good at any cost possessed them. The office management measured the boys by results. Results always tell the story.—D. Carl Yoder.

The "blessing" asked on the food, or grace before meat, if nothing more will give at least a touch of worship to a home otherwise without a formal recognition of religion. TIMBER BURNED ON EDGE OF PORTSMOUTH

PORTSMOUTH, O., August 1.—Approximately 1,500 acres of timberland had been reduced to ashes today as the result of a fire that started Wednesday noon and swept the northeastern portion of this city. A number of valuable orchards were destroyed.

Although hundreds of homes were threatened by the flames, all escaped damage.

For the third time, the flames were brought under control Thursday night after burning down to the Gallia Ave. sidewalk.

State forest rangers, Boy Scouts and hundreds of volunteers fought the flames day and night. It is thought that the blaze started from a camp fire.

LUTHERAN CHURCH
TO BE DECORATED;
TO REMOVE TOWER

Members of the council of the First Lutheran Church recently decided to decorate the exterior of the Lutheran edifice, W. Main St. Removal of the tower, because of its hazardous condition and appearance, will also be made when the church is painted.

H. K. Snyder, John Kohl, W. P. Maxwell, and Herbert Mellage compose the janitor and repair committee representing the congregation.

A special meeting of the council will be called for Tuesday evening when the color will be decided and the painting contract allowed. Holy Communion for the Trinity season will be administered by the Rev. Adrian G. Lebold, pastor of the church, in connection with the morning worship, Sunday at 10:30 a. m. A special offering to be applied to the repair fund will be received during this service. "The Person Who has Seen God," will be the central theme for meditation during the morning church service.

XENIAN HONORED

John W. Prugh, Xenia, superintendent of the building and loan divisions of Ohio and former mayor of Xenia, was elected vice president of the National Association of Building and Loan Supervisors at their annual sessions at Grand Rapids, Mich., this week.

THREE XENIANS GET CERTIFICATES FOR JUNIOR RIFLE CORPS

Three Xenia men, having successfully completed and passed all the requirements of the Junior Rifle Corps of the National Rifle Association of America, were granted certificates from the Association headquarters in Washington, D. C., this week.

Homer T. Gratz, Scout field executive the Rev. Adrian G. Lebold, committee chairman of Troop 45, and Ernest L. Blackburn, Scoutmaster of troops 45 and 62, recently attended the National Boy Scout Training School at Camp Hook near Middletown where a course in rifle marksmanship was given.

The certificates issued will enable these men to carry on and witness qualifications made by junior members of the National Rifle Association. Marksmanship is one of the eighty merit badges that can be obtained by Boy Scouts and these men are now qualified to pass any Scout who desires to earn this merit.

Lieut. D. O. Maxwell, Columbus, captain of the Ohio rifle marksmanship team and the winner of many trophies and medals was the instructor at Camp Hook. Thirty-nine men in scouting were enrolled in the course under the direction of Lieut. Maxwell. Thirty-three completed all the requirements after six days of training.

Gratz, Lebold and Blackburn were all among the ten high point men and were signally honored by the expert rifleman who has lead the Ohio team to numerous victories.

Scouts interested in this marksmanship merit badge can secure a copy of the pamphlet from the public library.

READ THIS FIRST:

Kitty Wilmet, crack swimmer and stenographer, comes to New York on an orphan to earn her living and be "free." A sweet natured, but opinionated girl, she is "always right." In a Natatorium, she meets Baby Ayers, and Atlee Wainright, and later goes to Baby's home to dinner, where she meets her Junoesque sister Sally, who is slow to make up her mind; Fatty Hemming, stock broker; Bert Croyden, theatrical man; Atlee kisses her good night on the way home, after promising her an opportunity to get a job in the office where he and Sally work. She gets the job as one of five private secretary stenographers to Ellery Goss, Wall Street king. She meets Hilda Stevenson, hard boiled telephone operator and receptionist, and Edith Bartlett, mysterious, never smiling queen of the files. She is tricked out of free time by Atlee, who wants her company going home. She hears much talk of a mysterious Gordon Platt, a confidential agent of Goss, hated by Atlee, admired by the office.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 7

In spite of the doleful prediction, Kitty had her Saturday afternoon free. Delighted, Sally offered to go with her to the Natatorium. "I've not seen you swim, and Atlee can't talk enough about it!" she declared. "I'll phone Baby and we'll make up a party."

At two o'clock Sally and Baby, Bert and Atlee, Fatty Hemming and Hilda gathered at the Natatorium office; all anxious to see Kitty swim. In the dressing room Baby staged a race as to who could get first into her suit.

"Oh, you are fading out," cried Baby, as Kitty discovered well-rounded shoulders from which the brown was going. "You'll be almost white in a month!"

"If I had that kind of skin I'd never want to be pale!" declared Hilda, who had almost white skin. "I always look like a corpse!"

"Oh, Hilda, how can you!" protested Kitty, struggling to button her suit. "You skin is beautiful!"

"Piffle! Here, let me do that!" I look like a scrawny bean, pale, painted white. I should worry! Spike thinks I'm grand! His mother and sister are fat; he likes 'em thin!"

"Like me!" suggested Sally. Kitty was awe struck at Sally in a bathing suit. Kitty had known she was big, but not how big; and yet she was not fat. "She'll be a mess in ten years, but Oh, what a magnificent woman!" thought Kitty. "I look like a child compared to her—"

"I swim like a log!" confessed Sally. "I float, but I don't get anywhere!"

Making a mental promise to teach her, Kitty skipped down the stairs to the showers, quite unconscious of the beautiful picture in an almost perfect figure made in a short, tight silk racing suit. Kitty had spent too much time in pools to be conscious of herself, or to notice the admiring looks of those who saw her.

Baby took her by the arm as she touched one tentative foot to the water to try its temperature. Fatty swallowed a lump as he looked at her. Atlee's eyes grew warm. Bert Croyden, a pathetic little figure of under-development, stood in the background, a cynical smile on his face as he watched. Atlee devoured Kitty with his eyes.

"You shall not be so modest!" declared Baby. "Here's the gang, expecting to be shown! You now proceed to do one of those impossible graceful dives and then play fish in this aquarium!" The tiny girl was so imperious that Kitty laughed.

"Perhaps you'd rather I went in from there?" Kitty pointed to the diving stand, with stages every five feet up to the roof, fifty feet above the water.

"You wouldn't dare!" cried Atlee. "Why, you'd break your neck. I forbid it!"

Kitty turned to him, her brows puzzled. "You forbid it?"

She shook her head. She would not be cross and spoil a party. She had been but joking about the high dive, but now she was serious. She had done no high diving for a year, but fifty feet was nothing new to her. She walked to the ladder and began to climb. The little group watched her anxiously.

"You ought to be whipped, Atlee Wainright!" cried Sally. "She'd never thought of doing it if you hadn't assumed proprietary airs! What right have you to forbid her?"

"I—I'm sorry!" muttered Atlee. "Kitty!" he called. "Please, don't do that—come down!"

The rigidly added hrd D shrduuu The girls added their protests. But Kitty, her face burning with repressed anger, climbed on. She would show them whether she was to be bossed by Atlee Wainright! Did the man think he owned her because he had kissed her once? She stood on the platform fifty feet above the water. The life guard ran forward. "Sure you can do it, Miss!" he called. "It's a bad dive if you are not used to it!"

For answer Kitty stepped to the edge and launched herself into space. Arms spread out, back arched, feet on a level with her head, she made the beautiful swan dive—most spectacular of all the methods of entering the water. Fifteen feet above the surface of the water hands and arms came down, feet went up, and, perpendicular, Kitty clove the surface with but a tiny splash to tell the tale.

"I swim like a log!" confessed Sally.

She swam the length of the pool under water, climbed out unseen, and was back behind the group, anxiously peering into the water, as the life guard prepared to dive for her.

"Was that all right?" she asked. She was not prepared for the result. The group whirled as one. Baby's face was white with fear. Hilda gasped. Atlee swore. Sally took her in her arms and shook her. "You shouldn't frighten me like that!" she cried. "I thought—I thought—" She whirled on Atlee. "It's all your fault!" she cried.

"Such a fuss about nothing!" she cried. "I've done that all my life. Sally, get in. I'm going to teach you to swim!"

Sally flopped in. "The water rose a foot!" suggested Bert as she came up.

Kitty dived in after her. "Come on up to the other end," she suggested. "Show me what you can do!"

Sally showed. It was very little. Her arms and legs churned the water but her great body refused to move.

"Some idiot must have taught you!" cried Kitty.

"Atlee!" answered Sally. Kitty laughed. "It goes as it lays. He knows how to swim, but not to teach. Now we are going to do nothing at all but hang on to the rail and flutter our feet. If you'll learn a six beat flutter I'll have you licking Atlee in a month!"

Sally was not an apt pupil. But Kitty stuck to it until she saw the big girl was tiring. Not until then did she heed the demands for an exhibition.

"Oh, all right!" she called. "But I warn you I'm coming here to swim as often as I can get away. And when I swim for exercise and practice I don't do exhibitions. I've a regular routine. So I want this to do for all time, please. If I do everything I know worth seeing—I will let me alone!"

They promised in a chorus. Kitty gave an exhibition such as none of them had even seen. By common consent, other swimmers and bathers deserted the tank and left it to the mermaid. She did half a dozen spring board dives. Front, back, jack knife, reverse turn, handstand, single front-over, double front-over, back one-and-a-half. Then she sped up the ladder to the twenty foot stage, dragged the flying rings and dropped off into space. She swung three times for impetus, then revolved into a ball, falling to the water. Three complete turns, a sudden flip and she entered in a perfect dive.

Without pausing for breath, she raced twice up and down the pool, alternating breast stroke, side stroke and back swim, ending with the eel-like, effortless crawl that so few could imitate.

There was hearty hand clapping, and cheers from the men she knew. The life guard came up to her. "That was wonderful, Miss!" he said, honest admiration in his eyes. "You should be a professional!"

Kitty was pleased with their admiration, but glad it was over. True to their promise, they let her swim her own way, but many envious and admiring eyes watched her practice. At the end of half an hour, feeling tired (she did not usually start practice with an exhibition of speed) she called to Sally that she was going to dress.

As she passed the stairs from the men's dressing room she came face to face with a man coming down.

He stopped, staring at Kitty. Kitty stared back at him, the color alternately coming and going in her cheeks. She saw a tall, broad shouldered man with a face stern in repose, gentle and kindly when it smiled suddenly. A square chin stuck out determinedly under a rather prominent nose and a generous mouth. His skin was dark, his hair a very dark brown, with a touch of silver on one temple. Wide apart greenish eyes, piercingly bright, looked inquiringly. Kitty's hand went to her heart; an unconscious gesture. Her thought was "What a man! But—" She did not finish. Something inscrutable, something mysterious, hidden, seemed to her to look from those eyes so friendly in a smile, eyes which might be cruel. Her heart beat fast, fast—something she did not understand was being said to her by those eyes; something every maidenly girlish instinct within her did not want to read. It was not disrespectful; the man did not stare at the lovely body, every curve revealed in her clinging wet suit—only an instant he stared deep into her eyes. Then Kitty fled to her dressing room.

She was glad to be alone; her heart suffocating her with its rapid beat and its cry, "Oh, who is he, who is he?"
